Clement & Pierce got returns from four hogheads of tobacco last week, two last and two first; for the last $3.00 and $2.00; for first $1.85 and $1.00. They estimate it cost one dollar a hundred to prize, put on the market and sell, and deducting the $1.00 from their sales leaves $2.85, $1.00, $0.85, and $0.00.

Mr. Langtry, of Hopkins county, is attending the Crittenden Springs. He is a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and tells us that the water of our famous spring has afforded him great relief. He tried Dawson Springs, and the water did him no good. When the railroad is completed to Marion the Crittenden Springs will regain its lost prestige.

Mr. J. J. Hilyard, of Caldwell co., spent two or three days in town last week. Mr. Hilyard has been paying railroad tax in Caldwell county for years, and knows something of its inconveniences; yet he thinks the people of this county have an excellent opportunity to get a road, and should not hesitate to accept the proposition made them.

A PROBLEM.

A casual reading of the orders of the court will disclose the fact that the bonds to be issued by the county must be placed upon a favorable vote for the tax, and be placed in this county. The people so elect, the court will issue the bonds in denominations of $100, and any man in the county can buy one of these bonds or as many as he wants. There are men who have expressed themselves as being willing to give $100 to the road but are opposed to the tax. These men are to be commended for their liberality; it is prima facie evidence that they believe the road will add to their interest and the interest of the county, and in this they exhibit a spirit of commendable enterprise, and it is only the hardships that enormous taxation has brought upon other people that makes them wary on the mode proposed for raising the subscription. As the amount asked is of so small magnitude when compared with what other counties have given, there can be no hardship, as figures and facts can show. Now as to the economy of a man owning property to the amount of say $2,000 making a donation of $100 in preference to voting the tax. Suppose the tax is voted and the bonds are issued in denominations of $100. Let the man who proposes to donate the $100 to the road harvest that sum in a bond of $100. The bond bears six per cent interest, and consequently the interest will yield a dividend of $6, the same as that is, the interest on the bond amounts to $6 a year, and the holder gets this. Assuming that he owns $2,000 worth of taxable property and in order to pay the county's railroad subscription, $25,000, in seven years, in equal annual payments, a tax of 25 cents on the $100 worth of property is levied. At this rate the owner of the $2,000 worth of property pays $500 taxes each year. Now the first year his bond has yielded him $6 in interest, consequently the interest on the bond has paid his tax and given him $1 a profit besides. The second year he again pays his $5 tax, and one seventh of his $100 bond having been paid back to him, besides the interest, he carries interest on $85.72. The interest on this at 6 per cent amounts to $5.14. Here again the interest on his bond pays his tax and gives him 14 cents profit besides, and so goes $14.28 more of the $100 he saved in the first year to put in his pocket. The third year he pays his tax and gets 28 cents profit, and the interest on the bond pays his tax and gives him 56 cents profit besides, and so goes $56 more of the $100 he saved in the first year to put in his pocket. The sixth year his tax amounts to $34.28 more than his interest. The seventh year the tax amounts to $41.42 more than the interest on the residue of his bond. Now each year he has received $14.28 of his $100 and at the end of the seventh year he has received all of the $100 and his tax has amounted to about $10.99 more than the interest on the bond during that period. In other words, he has paid about $10.99 railroad tax.

Now get your school teachers to make this calculation for you and you will find that I am nearly correct.

Which is the most reasonable thing to do, to make a gift of the $100, as we are proposing, or to vote the tax and invest the $100 in bonds? Look at this from a business standpoint.

Messrs. Blue, Nunn and Williamson addressed the people on the railroad question at Cline's Chapel Tuesday night. A respectable number of the citizens were present, and gave the speakers good attention, and we are confident that the audience was favorably impressed with the proposition after it was explained to them. Tonight there will be speaking at Post Oak, and it is to be hoped that the people of that neighborhood will turn out and here this vital question discussed.

GENTS:

I purchased of you in 1885, 1000 pounds of National Tobacco Grower. I used this on my farm in growing my crop of tobacco and corn. I heretofore used the Homestead Tobacco Grower, I had good results from it. I am perfectly satisfied with the results of the National in my tobacco and corn crops. And am convinced by actual experience that it is as good if not better than the Homestead. I will use the National again this year.

The Olden Time.

On the third day of April 1848, just 43 years ago the 3d day of this month myself and my three traveling companions, started on a journey to North Carolina. We traveled on horseback, each of us with a pack on an overcoat, an umbrella and a pair of leather saddle bags, not quite so large but very much like a pair of No. 3 United States Mail bags.

I remember that we passed up through Fredonia and Princeton and stayed all night in Hopkinsville, passed on through Trenton, Kingsburg, Cross Plains on to Galatinsburg, stayed all night at Castillon Springs, crossed the Cumberland river at Fort-Thomas, crossed the Lanes Fork at Trousdale's Ferry, went up the ridge or mountain by officers Turnpike gate, took the old Emory road by Mountgomery on to Knoxville East Tennessee, went up the French Broad River, passed Dandridge and Newport, crossed the line between Tennessee and North Carolina at the Paint Rock, went by the Warm Spring on to Asheville in Buncombe county, crossed the Blue Ridge at the Hickory Nut Gap.

At Rutherfordton two of our company took the road to Raleigh, while myself and the other two went by the way Lincolnton to Charlotte in Mecklenburg county between Lincolnton and Charlotte, we forded the Catawba River at the famous Tuckasee Ford. The Catawba is a wide and rapid stream, but not very deep. The first thing that attracted our attention when we came in sight of Charlotte, was the United States Mint, which has since been burnt down and rebuilt.

Charlotte is noted as being the place where the good people of Mecklenburg county met in convention on the 20th of May, 1775, and declared themselves free and independent and adopted the famous Mecklenburg Resolutions. The good people of Mecklenburg county celebrated the 20th day of May as their Independence day, even down to the present time. The greatest military display that ever I witnessed in my life was on the 20th day of May, 1813.

In time of the Revolutionary War, Charlotte was occupied for a short time by Lord Cornwallis and his army, when they left her set the village on fire and burnt it to ashes.

From a memorandum that I kept I made the distance from Leno to Charlotte, Mecklenburg county, N. C., to be 527 miles, this distance we traveled in sixteen days, however, we arrived in Charlotte the sixteenth day, about 12 o'clock. This distance could now be traveled in about 30 many hours.

D. N. STINSON.

A few Random Thoughts.

Thanks for the knowledge of Kentucky's Legislative power, it has many other unimpaired powers tell not its power and glory until it has a subject.

Remember, we do not decide there is power in every noise. If we know it, we would have believed that every State in the Union today is superior to Kentucky in wisdom; because Kentucky's students are not charging and puffing, snoring and snuffing at every atomical thought, it is not to say she is destitute of life and wisdom.

Because Kentucky has not the same number of academy's and colleges as some of the foremost eastern States of the Union, is not to say it is dragging or struggling near the rear. A few good schools, with competent teachers will indeed develop our State sooner than an independent excess of worthless schools.

If a smith learns he has not been making plows to suit his customers, he should change his programme and will if he uses discretion. As a duty the same applies to every avocation of life. The world has too many pretenders, too many scorners, too many mimics. At first sight they have their impression, but at last they will fall. If it be your expectation to aid in securing a crown for Kentucky, be ready to lend a helping hand, whatever your occupation may be.

But remember if this is not done in a pleasant manner you will have despairers.

Do not act contemptibly with your customers if you wish to be represented. Have patience and make your labor easy by cheerfulness.

N. Y. Z.

Winston, Ky. 1886.

Having heard some complaint from the defeated candidates, I will say as one of the Salt river passengers that I think as far as I could see the convention went off right and fair; we had 21 of the best looking men in our country to sit on our case, and every candidate was his own counsel and pled his own case, and those 21 gentlemen, after hearing the evidence and pleading retired to deliberate upon our cases, brought in a verdict nominating the best looking and sending the ugly ones east river for four years with good behavior, with a pledge to vote for the nominees and the penalty if they should fail to do so to be sent off with Oars Turner, Blaine, Butler & Co. so I will just say to the boys to have your liverwicks ready and your canisters filled with good old water or something else. The cannon will be aboard and when the bell on the old Salt river packet taps all get aboard. Now I do not know whether the Captain will go up until after the first Monday in August. He may not want to make two trips; but let that be as may be ready.

Now I will say in conclusion that we have good men for candidates, well qualified to fill the offices to which they aspire. Then let us rally to our standard bearers, do our whole duty, and victory will surely perch upon our banner.

Ex-Captain S. R. P.

Wheat Prospects.

Chicago, April 18.—The following crop summary appeared in the Farmer's Review:

The chief feature of the crop returns up to the close of the week is contained in the uniformly gloomy tenor of the returns from Kansas. The reports from Kansas for the last six weeks have indicated only a partial crop, but the latest bulletins predict an almost total failure in number of counties, while at the best there is the promise to exceed not one third of the average yield for the entire State. The reports from Jefferson county are that the prospect is the worst ever known and that the yield will not pay for the cutting. The prospect in Nebraska county is bad, and already many of its are being plowed under. In Ottawa county fully 50 per cent. of the crop is reported to be winter killed, while in Sedgewick county the prospect is not for more than 25 per cent. of a crop. In some of the Southern counties the prospect is somewhat more favorable. But a beautiful yield does not seem to promise in any portion of the State. The prospect in Michigan shows no improvement, and in many counties wheat is reported to be going backward, on account of the recent dry and freezing weather. In some of the counties a great deal of the wheat is reported lying on top of the ground. In Lawrence and two other counties indications of the Heban fly are reported. Except in these two States the prospect is not only excellent, but in many the prospects are dawning for winter wheat. In some portions of Ohio the wheat stores have left the ground 1 foot or more, which with the recent dry and cold weather, has threatened the growing plants but a rule the reports are very favorable. In all sections of the State the wheat is green and growing healthy. Very little seeding has been done either in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa or Nebraska, and in the two western States, seeding threatens to be delayed twenty to thirty days. In many portions of Nebraska the season is already so far advanced that many of the large tracks of land will be ready to grow.

English Capital in America.

(Frank Carr in Boston Herald.)

The Atlantic arrived from Europe this afternoon. It had a stormy passage, and was twenty-four hours late. An hour after the steamer landed, I saw three Englishmen. One of them was a friend of mine, the other two were capitalists. One representing a London syndicate, having $250,000 invested in the Denver and Rio Grand Railroad. He came over to look after what is left of it. Very little, I fear. The other had $500,000 invested in building property in the West. This trio of foreigners interested me for several reasons. They are all types of a class in which the people of this country are very much interested, and they are very much interested in this country and its people. My English friend had just run over to London and said a morning prayer. He said to me: "You won't be surprised at the amount of English capital that is now being poured into the United States." The other two of the Englishmen are all looking toward this country, and people who have cash to invest believe in the future of the United States. Some of them have been badly bitten here. A great deal of English money has been lost in railroads and in mines, but there is a general feeling that the country has a great future. I think that what has been lost has been through bad judgment. In following false leads, Englishmen do not forget that in many of the Western mines have for 10 or 12 years paid dividends of from 15 to 25 per cent., and that their capital, which more interest than they could get in London, has been returned to them, if they get nothing in the future.

Announcements.

County Clerk.

To the voters of Crittenden county: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Clerk of the Crittenden county court, and I promise the people a faithful and impartial discharge of the duties of the office if elected. I will devote every energy to so perform the duties of the office as to merit your esteem and support.

WILLIAM HILL.

To the voters of Crittenden county: I take pleasure in announcing to you that I am a candidate for re-election to the office of County Court Clerk, and permit me to return you my sincere thanks and the gratitude of my heart for your kindness to me in the past. I have tried to discharge all my obligations faithfully and impartially, but how far short I have come I know not, doubtless I have committed errors, but in this you will bear with me, as you know the frailty of a human nature. But if you will again give me the office, it will be a precious boon to me and will be appreciated to the utmost extent. But if you believe I have been unfaithful to the trust confided to me, I am no longer a citizen, it is your duty to elect some worthy man instead of myself. But I trust that you will give my claims your favorable consideration, and if elected I will me every endeavor to make you a faithful and efficient officer, by being at my post of duty and discharging all official duties without partiality, as I have ever tried to do in the past. In conclusion, again permit me to thank you for your past acts of kindness and assure you that I will ever remember you with gratitude whether you re-taken me as your clerk or not.

I am as ever your obedient servant,

Jan. 1 1886. D. WOODS.

MR. CRITTENDEN COURT.

Circuit Clerk.

I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Clerk of the Crittenden Circuit Court, August election, 1886. Having filled the office one term, I do not think it out of place or unbecomely in me to say that I feel confident to discharge every duty pertaining to the office faithfully and efficiently. I have tried during the term I have served you in this position to do my duty as I thought your honor and interest, and I pledged myself every effort to the faithful, impartial, and efficient discharge of the duties of the office.

I think you most graciously for the support you have given me in the past and I should be glad to honor me with the position I am seeking. I will try to conduct the affairs of the office that you will have no occasion to regret your choice.

Respectfully, your obedient servant

H. A. HAYNES.

I take pleasure in announcing myself as a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk. I do not think I overstep the bounds of modesty when I say that I feel myself fully competent to discharge the duties of said office. I do not want to forget your kindness in the past, and I feel that I will endeavor to discharge the duties of said office to the satisfaction of the public. I have been employed in the office of a County Surveyor. I have endeavored in the best of my ability to discharge the duties of said office without favor or partiality to any party or person, and I promise if elected to the office of Circuit Court Clerk to know no man to the prejudice of another in the discharge of the duties of said office. Trusting that I may receive your support, I remain,

Yours Respectfully,

BRADY A. HAYNES.

To the Voters of Crittenden County.

I am a candidate for the office of Sheriff, and I promise to discharge the duties of said office faithfully and impartially. I will try to conduct the affairs of the office that you will have no occasion to regret your choice.

Respectfully, your obedient servant
